<sup>1</sup> Teaching to High Standards State Grants builds on the former Eisenhower Professional Development State Grants program and Goals 2000 State and Local Education Systemic Improvement, neither of which is funded in the President's 2001 budget request.

<sup>2</sup> The amount of the President's Proposed School Construction Tax-Credit Bonds represents the amount of subsidized bonds that States and their school districts would be eligible for in calendar years 2001 and 2002. These figures include the proposed Qualified Zone Academy Bonds as well as the School Modernization Bonds.

* Fiscal year 2000 competitions are currently underway for 21st Century Community Learning Centers ($453 million), GEAR UP ($200 million), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology ($75 million), and Charter Schools ($145 million).

** For fiscal year 2001, the administration is seeking the following increases over fiscal year 2000 levels: 21st Century Community Learning Centers (+$547 million, for $1 billion total), GEAR UP (+$125 million, for $325 million total), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology (+$75 million, for $150 million total), and Charter Schools (+$30 million, for $175 million total).

<sup>1</sup> Teaching to High Standards State Grants builds on the former Eisenhower Professional Development State Grants program and Goals 2000 State and Local Education Systemic Improvement, neither of which is funded in the President's 2001 budget request.

<sup>2</sup> The amount of the President's Proposed School Construction Tax-Credit Bonds represents the amount of subsidized bonds that States and their school districts would be eligible for in calendar years 2001 and 2002. These figures include the proposed Qualified Zone Academy Bonds as well as the School Modernization Bonds.

* Fiscal year 2000 competitions are currently underway for 21st Century Community Learning Centers ($453 million), GEAR UP ($200 million), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology ($75 million), and Charter Schools ($145 million).

** For fiscal year 2001, the administration is seeking the following increases over fiscal year 2000 levels: 21st Century Community Learning Centers (+$547 million, for $1 billion total), GEAR UP (+$125 million, for $325 million total), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology (+$75 million, for $150 million total), and Charter Schools (+$30 million, for $175 million total).

<sup>1</sup> Teaching to High Standards State Grants builds on the former Eisenhower Professional Development State Grants program and Goals 2000 State and Local Education Systemic Improvement, neither of which is funded in the President's 2001 budget request.

<sup>2</sup> The amount of the President's Proposed School Construction Tax-Credit Bonds represents the amount of subsidized bonds that States and their school districts would be eligible for in calendar years 2001 and 2002. These figures include the proposed Qualified Zone Academy Bonds as well as the School Modernization Bonds.

* Fiscal year 2000 competitions are currently underway for 21st Century Community Learning Centers ($453 million), GEAR UP ($200 million), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology ($75 million), and Charter Schools ($145 million).

** For fiscal year 2001, the administration is seeking the following increases over fiscal year 2000 levels: 21st Century Community Learning Centers (+$547 million, for $1 billion total), GEAR UP (+$125 million, for $325 million total), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology (+$75 million, for $150 million total), and Charter Schools (+$30 million, for $175 million total).

<sup>1</sup> Teaching to High Standards State Grants builds on the former Eisenhower Professional Development State Grants program and Goals 2000 State and Local Education Systemic Improvement, neither of which is funded in the President's 2001 budget request.

<sup>2</sup> The amount of the President's Proposed School Construction Tax-Credit Bonds represents the amount of subsidized bonds that States and their school districts would be eligible for in calendar years 2001 and 2002. These figures include the proposed Qualified Zone Academy Bonds as well as the School Modernization Bonds.

* Fiscal year 2000 competitions are currently underway for 21st Century Community Learning Centers ($453 million), GEAR UP ($200 million), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology ($75 million), and Charter Schools ($145 million).

** For fiscal year 2001, the administration is seeking the following increases over fiscal year 2000 levels: 21st Century Community Learning Centers (+$547 million, for $1 billion total), GEAR UP (+$125 million, for $325 million total), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology (+$75 million, for $150 million total), and Charter Schools (+$30 million, for $175 million total).

<sup>1</sup> Teaching to High Standards State Grants builds on the former Eisenhower Professional Development State Grants program and Goals 2000 State and Local Education Systemic Improvement, neither of which is funded in the President's 2001 budget request.

<sup>2</sup> The amount of the President's Proposed School Construction Tax-Credit Bonds represents the amount of subsidized bonds that States and their school districts would be eligible for in calendar years 2001 and 2002. These figures include the proposed Qualified Zone Academy Bonds as well as the School Modernization Bonds.

* Fiscal year 2000 competitions are currently underway for 21st Century Community Learning Centers ($453 million), GEAR UP ($200 million), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology ($75 million), and Charter Schools ($145 million).

** For fiscal year 2001, the administration is seeking the following increases over fiscal year 2000 levels: 21st Century Community Learning Centers (+$547 million, for $1 billion total), GEAR UP (+$125 million, for $325 million total), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology (+$75 million, for $150 million total), and Charter Schools (+$30 million, for $175 million total).

<sup>1</sup> Teaching to High Standards State Grants builds on the former Eisenhower Professional Development State Grants program and Goals 2000 State and Local Education Systemic Improvement, neither of which is funded in the President's 2001 budget request.

<sup>2</sup> The amount of the President's Proposed School Construction Tax-Credit Bonds represents the amount of subsidized bonds that States and their school districts would be eligible for in calendar years 2001 and 2002. These figures include the proposed Qualified Zone Academy Bonds as well as the School Modernization Bonds.

* Fiscal year 2000 competitions are currently underway for 21st Century Community Learning Centers ($453 million), GEAR UP ($200 million), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology ($75 million), and Charter Schools ($145 million).

** For fiscal year 2001, the administration is seeking the following increases over fiscal year 2000 levels: 21st Century Community Learning Centers (+$547 million, for $1 billion total), GEAR UP (+$125 million, for $325 million total), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology (+$75 million, for $150 million total), and Charter Schools (+$30 million, for $175 million total).

<sup>1</sup> Teaching to High Standards State Grants builds on the former Eisenhower Professional Development State Grants program and Goals 2000 State and Local Education Systemic Improvement, neither of which is funded in the President's 2001 budget request.

<sup>2</sup> The amount of the President's Proposed School Construction Tax-Credit Bonds represents the amount of subsidized bonds that States and their school districts would be eligible for in calendar years 2001 and 2002. These figures include the proposed Qualified Zone Academy Bonds as well as the School Modernization Bonds.

* Fiscal year 2000 competitions are currently underway for 21st Century Community Learning Centers ($453 million), GEAR UP ($200 million), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology ($75 million), and Charter Schools ($145 million).

** For fiscal year 2001, the administration is seeking the following increases over fiscal year 2000 levels: 21st Century Community Learning Centers (+$547 million, for $1 billion total), GEAR UP (+$125 million, for $325 million total), Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology (+$75 million, for $150 million total), and Charter Schools (+$30 million, for $175 million total).
