

You (the Student)

Here is where you are this year in the process of applying for student financial aid:

1. You applied for financial aid by completing a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).
2. Now you need to check your SAR information and resolve the issues described on page 3.
3. You will need to verify your information if asked to do so by your school.

U.S. Department of Education

Here is where we are in collecting, processing, and storing your information for the 2007-2008 award year:

1. We received your information and processed it. Our results are below.
2. We sent your information and results to you and made them available for the school(s) you listed in Step Six to request.
3. We will update your federal student aid record with any changes you make.

You must give us more information before we can calculate your EFC.

School(s)

Here are the steps your school(s) will take to put together your 2007-2008 financial aid package:

1. Your school(s) received your information and our results.
2. Your school(s) may ask you to verify your information.
3. Your school(s) may put together or change an aid package and notify you.

The amount of aid you receive from your school(s) will depend on the cost of attendance at your school(s), your enrollment status (full-time, three-quarter-time, half-time, or less than half-time), Congressional appropriations, and other factors. Review your financial aid notification from your school(s) or contact your Financial Aid Administrator.

Please read the important information on page 2, and then go to page 3 to see what you need to do next.
