

INTERNATIONAL AND FOREIGN LANGUAGE EDUCATION

The U.S. Department of Education's Title VI and Fulbright-Hays grant and fellowship programs strengthen foreign language instruction, area studies teaching and research, professional development for educators, and curriculum development at the K-12 and postsecondary levels.

Center Programs

- Support broad expertise on world regions, world affairs, or thematic topics
- Serve as resources to the nation and to U.S. scholars abroad
- Substantial resources and offerings in area studies, international studies, and modern foreign language training across multiple disciplines and departments
- Capacity to leverage existing and establish new institutional linkages abroad
- Robust regional and national outreach activities

Title VI National Resource Centers (NRC)

Title VI Centers for International Business Education (CIBE)

Title VI Language Resource Centers (LRC)

Title VI American Overseas Research Centers (AORC)

Targeted, Capacity-Building Programs

- Support targeted initiatives, experiential activities, and creative projects customized for diverse participants (e.g., institutions, individuals, non-profit organizations)
- Strengthen the competitive edge of small or underrepresented Institutions by enhancing area studies and language training programs
- Create and/or expand the institution's international programming

Title VI Undergraduate International Studies and Foreign Language (UISFL)

Fulbright-Hays Group Projects Abroad (GPA)

Title VI Business and International Education (BIE)

Programs for Individuals

- Assist individuals as they strengthen their knowledge of modern foreign languages and area studies
- Support research, study, and curriculum development
- May support study and research travel abroad

Fulbright-Hays Doctoral Dissertation Research Abroad (DDRA) Fellowships

Fulbright-Hays Faculty Research Abroad (DDRA) Fellowships

Title VI Foreign Language and Area Studies (FLAS) Fellowships

Fulbright-Hays Group Projects Abroad (GPA)

Fulbright-Hays Seminars Abroad (SA)

Specialized Research

- Create and contribute new knowledge to the field of international education
- Custom timeline for project development and implementation
- Potential for long-term impact via publication and dissemination of project results and materials

Title VI International Research and Studies (IRS)